End-of-course evaluations results, as one indicator of teaching effectiveness, are used to:

- a. to help instructors improve future offerings of courses;
- b. to inform students about courses and instructors;
- c. as a component of the teaching dossier; and
- d. to help administrators and faculty committees in their decision-making processes.

Written comments are treated as confidential and are not made available to the McGill community.

The course ratings reported here are only one indicator of teaching effectiveness and these results should be treated with caution since they represent reports on only one particular course.

Helpful, but a bit awkward and vague in answering questions
Nice guy, tried to help me with my datasets. Thank you!
Not the most helpful, I had to ask very direct questions in order to get solid help from him.
Amazing TA. He made R easy to understand. Digestible and effective conferences. Super available for individual consultation. He answered questions efficiently. He answered emails in a timely manner.
he did his job but seemed kind of checked out.
